Alcohol Revenues, Educational Efforts Increase

The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division transferred a record $107 million dollars to state and local authorities during fiscal year 2011 as a result of increased spirit sales. The money is used to fund a variety of state and local programs.

The revenue generated by the ABD in fiscal year 2011 was $7 million more than fiscal year 2010 and $2 million more than the previous record, which was achieved in fiscal year 2009.

Million dollar sales days for the ABD used to only occur around holidays such as New Years and Independence Day. However, last year nearly fifty percent of ABD's business days broke the million-dollar mark, with a single day even breaching two million dollars in sales. Total spirits sales were more than $220 million, $10 million over the previous year, and the highest since fiscal year 1988 when the state became the exclusive wholesaler of spirits to privately owned retail outlets.

The ABD has been focused on serving its retail customers by providing a wider variety of products, while at the same time emphasizing education and responsible regulation has laid a foundation for success.

We pay close attention to the products leading the market while evaluating results. Fiscal year 2011 revealed consumers are gravitating to more convenient choices including flavored products of premixed, ready-to-drink cocktails, a category that grew more than seven percent last year.

But our success is also mirrored in our efforts to provide educational resources to our partners that increase regulatory compliance and social responsibility. We balance our goal of generating revenue for the state with the desire to lead the effort to ensure laws and regulations are followed in addition to promoting the health and welfare of Iowans.

The majority of funds generated by the ABD go to the State's General Fund to be appropriated by the legislature. Additional funds are used for city and county programs and a small percentage goes to the Iowa Partnership for Economic Progress (IPEP) for Iowa native wine and beer promotion. The remaining funds are earmarked for substance abuse funding.

First quarter sales for fiscal year 2012 have been strong and indicate another record-breaking year may be on the horizon. The addition of over 200 Class E licensees, most of which are convenient stores, has pushed projected license revenue higher than first projected. The initial stocking of inventory in these new stores contributed to a nine percent growth in revenue over the first quarter of this year.

As we build on last year's fiscal success, we must continue to utilize a business model that strengthens our operational efficiency to maximize the return on investment for the delivery of spirits. We are working to find creative ways to increase awareness about the social costs of alcohol and promote responsible consumption. Additionally, we are focused on developing educational programs that will result in increased compliance with the laws and regulations that are the framework for the ABD's mission and the sale of alcohol to consumers.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

Holiday Safety

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 25 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. The best defense against a drunk driver is to always buckle up. Also remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers during the upcoming holiday season.

More information such as printed materials and DVDs are available. Visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, StopImpairedDriving.org and StopDruggedDriving.org.

Brother, Ryan

FAVORITE ASPECT OF THE DIVISION

Being able to assist in multiple areas of the distribution operations.

FAVORITE PASTIMES

Erin plays slow pitch softball and enjoys cheering on the Hawkeyes with boyfriend, Adam, and their two dogs.

What are your job duties?

I assist with both the warehouse and transportation operations of the Division. This includes maintaining the logistical information for distribution, handling accident reports for drivers and keeping up to date records of route changes, new stores and all other corresponding information. I also schedule inbound trucks and am the point of contact for ordering supplies for all warehouse and driver needs.

What is your favorite part of your job?

I enjoy the fast paced environment of the warehouse and how every day is different. There is always a problem to be solved or something new to learn which keeps me on my toes. I also like how I can use my work experience at the Division to enhance my growing education.

What do you like to do in your free time?

Most of my time outside of work is spent working towards my education. In December I decided to go back to school to earn my Masters degree in Public Administration and Healthcare Administration. When I'm not doing school work I like to cook; beef enchiladas, stuffed peppers and homemade soups are my specialties! I sometimes make food for tailgating or for munching on while watching my favorite football team, the Iowa Hawkeyes.

In the warm months, I play softball on two slow pitch adult softball leagues. I have two dogs, Charlie and Ralph who enjoy coming to the games and hanging out at the field.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

It is difficult making sure all the logistical information I have and maintain is the most current and up to date information in the office. This is important to ensure the records I use for projects are accurate.

A Warm Welcome

When the weather turns chilly, welcome your customers with a warm inviting punch. Here are some simple recipes for inspiration. You can make the first part of the Hot Wine Punch recipe ahead of time, and then just reheat it and add the wine when you're ready to serve it. Place most of the ingredients for Wassail in slow cooker, and let it simmer all day; add the rum, sherry, or port just before serving.

Hot Wine Punch

Serve in warm glass mugs or heatproof punch cups.

- ¼-½ cup sugar*
- 1½ cups boiling water*
- 1 cup apple or other fruit juice that complements the wine of choice*
- 2 cinnamon sticks*
- 5 whole cloves*
- Peel of 1 lemon*
- ½-1 teaspoon allspice*
- 1 (750-milliliter) bottle wine of choice*

Place the sugar in large saucepan; add the boiling water, and stir until the sugar dissolves completely. Place the pan over medium-high heat, and stir in the juice, cinnamon sticks, cloves, lemon peel, and allspice. Cook 15 minutes, remove from the heat, and strain into a large bowl. If you are ready to serve the punch, return the strained juice mixture to the pan, and add the wine; place the pan over low heat, and simmer the mixture until warm (do not boil). If you plan to serve the punch later, cover the strained juice mixture, and refrigerate it; when you are ready to serve the punch, reheat the juice mixture, add the wine, and simmer until warm (do not boil). Serve the punch warm.

Mulled Port Punch

Serve in warm glass mugs or heatproof punch cups.

- 1 cup hot water*
- 2-3 ounces honey*
- 1 (750-milliliter) bottle of red wine of choice*
- 1 pint ruby port*
- 1 cup brandy of choice*
- 2 lemon slices*

Place a large saucepan over medium-low heat; add the hot water and honey, and stir until the honey dissolves. Add the wine, port, brandy, and lemon slices; heat until warm, stirring occasionally (do not boil). Serve the punch warm.

Wassail

Serve this old-fashioned drink in warm glass mugs.

- 1 gallon cider*
- 4 cups fresh orange juice*
- 1 cup fresh lemon juice*
- 24 whole cloves*
- 10 cinnamon sticks*
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg*
- ½ teaspoon ginger*
- 1½-2 cups rum, sherry, or port*

Place the cider, orange juice, lemon juice, and spices in a slow cooker, and simmer for at least 3 hours. When you are ready to serve the punch, turn off the heat, and let the cider mixture cool slightly. Stir in the rum, sherry, or port; serve the punch warm.

CANADIAN WHISKY AND BEVERAGE ALCOHOL RETAILERS ARE GETTING A BOOST FROM CONSUMERS' RECENT PREFERENCES TOWARD DINING AND DRINKING AT HOME. . . . New line extensions, product, and marketing programs are increasing Canadian whisky visibility.

The global economic crisis hasn't spared the beverage alcohol industry, but Canadian whisky is one segment that has not been hurt by the downturn. Long thought of as an affordable spirit, Canadian whisky has also leveraged its light and mixable profile to benefit as the cocktail culture evolves from primarily white spirits to include a wide range of whiskies. Additionally, Canadian whisky and beverage alcohol retailers are getting a boost from consumers' recent preferences toward dining and drinking at home.

Canadian whisky suppliers have been stepping up their activity, introducing new brands and line extensions. "We know Black Velvet has a loyal consumer base, but we saw an opportunity to target younger legal-age drinkers," says Lisa

Smith, Black Velvet's marketing director. "Our new brand image was launched specifically to target that group."

John Hall, whisky maker of Forty Creek with Kittling Ridge Wine and spirits, predicts that [their new high-end] products will be part of an overall renaissance in the Canadian whisky category. "People are drinking less, but drinking better," he says. "When they do decide to enjoy a whisky, they want a well-made whisky."

A knowledgeable sales staff remains the most surefire method of increasing sales in retail stores, suppliers emphasize. "If retailers carry and recommend new whiskies to their customers, I believe they will begin to experience new growth in the category," says Forty Creek's Hall. "In addition, if they provide their staff with product knowledge on whiskies, they will experience growth in sales and customer satisfaction."

AMERICANS ARE DISCOVERING GENEVER,
THE ORIGINAL GIN FROM HOLLAND.

Although it may be news to many consumers—and even a few gin drinkers—the original white spirit hails from Holland where it originated in the 1600s. Unlike English-style gins, genever is not at all dry but has a sweet malty character from its grain base and a more pronounced juniper accent.

Although it may be news to many consumers—and even a few gin drinkers—the original white spirit hails from Holland where it originated in the 1600s. Unlike English-style gins, genever is not at all dry but has a sweet malty character from its grain base and a more pronounced juniper accent.

“It’s like nothing you’ve ever tasted before, unless you tasted it before Prohibition,” says Tal Nadari, managing director for Lucas Bols U.S.A. Inc., which in 2008 relaunched Bols Genever, made from an 1820’s recipe in the United States. That pre-Prohibition legacy has garnered some cache among the mixologist community. A few classic cocktails, such as the John Collins, were originally formulated with genever, not gin.

Nadari and the Lucas Bols crew are working hard to communicate genever’s legacy and uniqueness to consumers via shelf-talkers, stack promos, neck hangers, and sampling programs. Bols Genever is now also available in 50 ml mini bottles, which are ideal for sampling. “Because it’s a new category here, education is vital,” points out Nadari. One advantage is that the Bols brand name is well known in the United States thanks to its cordial line.

A few other brands of genever are distributed in the U.S. market, notably Zuidam and Boomsma. And, in the imitation is the sincerest form of flattery mode, at least one American distiller has created a genever style: San Francisco’s Anchor Steam Distilling markets Genevieve, with a flavor profile similar to the Dutch spirit. Of course, according to European Union regulations, true genever is only made in Holland, Belgium, France, and Germany.

For his part, Nadari welcomes other genever brands whatever their origins. “We’re trying to build a category here,” he says. “I foresee an entire retail shelf just for genever.”

ZOMBIE BURGER + DRINK LAB
300 E. Grand Ave, Des Moines

Eat burgers, not brains

Story & Photos by Tonya Dusold and Nicole Hartman

Hamburgers and horror movies. Zombie Burger was created with this unlikely combination from Chef George Formaro's two passions. Formaro worked for years developing the perfect buns and burger patty, to later find himself producing 'Goremet Bashed Burgers' the restaurant's unusual burger combinations. Zombie Burger isn't known solely for their burgers but also for their 'Drink Lab' and of course, its zombie theme.

Visit Zombie Burger's quick service counter if you're pressed for time or sit in the Drink Lab area for full service dining with family and friends. Inside, you will find many connections to other local businesses. The tables and booths are made by a local craftsman; Raygun has made a Zombie themed t-shirt and Formaro's brother created the menu filled with zombie related news stories and advertisements for nearby businesses. Multiple murals painted by Ron Wagner present the theme of "zombies taking over the East Village of Des Moines."

You may have noticed the hundreds of zombies shuffling through the streets of the East Village for the grand opening in August. There were about 350 people of all age groups who dressed in full costume and makeup, about 250 more zombies than expected. Chris Diebel, marketing director, believes three years ago this unique branding concept may not have worked as well as it does now. Diebel has received phone calls from around the U.S. requesting Zombie Burgers to be opened in other cities, proving its popularity. In the future, owners intend to get local zombie enthusiasts involved in occasional events centered around the zombie genre.

Zombie Burger offers an extensive and unique burger selection. There are burgers with fried macaroni and cheese or grilled cheese used as the bun and others with fried chili, peanut butter or fried banana toppings. All 21 burgers have the option of being singles, doubles or triples and come with four choices of patty types.

Des Moines' East Village is the perfect place to embrace the irreverence of a zombie themed restaurant.

- Chris Diebel, Marketing Director

If you're not in the mood for a burger, there are plenty of other options on the menu. Choose from the salads, nachos, chicken tenders, soups or deep fried hot dogs. What drink pairs best with your meal? Let's go to the 'Drink Lab' to find out.

Bar manager John George is the mad scientist behind the drink menu. He also has the role of the DJ for the restaurant, playing music from different genres to match all age and interest groups of guests. George has come up with many different alcoholic drink combinations to shadow the theme of the restaurant. Not only does George come up with the drink recipes, but also the unusual garnishes to top them off. At Zombie Burger you will find eyeballs, skin and blood complementing your cocktail. Once things settle down and routines are made, George will be experimenting with liquid nitrogen to serve drinks that smoke.

If you're not a cocktail drinker, you can always pair your dinner with a nice cold 'Zombie Beer'. Choose from over 75 different types of beer including many Iowa brews. George considers himself a beer geek which makes him perfect for this position. He has gone through and picked the best of each style, all organized on the menu along with their alcohol content. George has also included a small description under each variety so there are no surprises with your first sip.

Zombie Burger offers 'Spiked Shakes', your favorite milkshake spiked with alcohol. Perfecting the consistency and flavor was a very complicated process and took a group effort to complete the recipes. 'Brain Freeze' shakes or nonalcoholic shakes are also available in many different flavors combining uncommon ingredients such as Kool-Aid powder, Twinkies, and cake mix.

The zombie virus has spread quickly and been embraced across Des Moines. Whether you're in the mood for on-the-go, casual family-friendly dining or a unique nightlife option, Zombie Burger is the place to be. So step into the world of the living dead to get your dose of good beer and unique cocktails, and of course, eat burgers, not brains.

Photos: (Left to right) The Boomstick burger topped with deep fried chili; the menu is a post-zombie outbreak newspaper complete with news stories and zombie related advertising for other East Village businesses; Crystal-eyezd vodka martini with eyeball garnish.

Zombie Burger + Drink Lab's unusual food and drink menus include unexpected burgers, alcoholic milk shakes, inventive cocktails and an extensive beer selection. Each burger can be done with a special grind patty, veggie patty, chicken breast or portobello and can be made as a single, double or triple.

TREAT YOURSELF AND OTHERS

Give yourself and others on your shopping list a very special Dutch treat—a bottle of genever.

To fully appreciate its unique flavorful taste, sip chilled genever either on its own or over ice. Also use it in your favorite gin recipes—many of the classic mixed drinks were created with genever, not gin! And as always, try your hand at mixing up your own genever creation.

SELLING CHAMPAGNE TODAY

By changing a few habits and mindsets, retailers might just be able to get customers to purchase an extra bottle or two of bubbly on their next visit to the store.

An iPhone app, launched by Champagne Nicolas Feuillatte, called MobileToast “entertains users while leading them, with a search engine, to the nearest retailers and restaurants carrying Feuillatte bottles. The app lets the user correctly ‘open’ a bottle of champagne. With one fingertip, the user unwraps the foil and uncorks the bottle. The cork pops and fizzes with a satisfying sound effect, and the user can even simulate pouring the champagne into the flute of another iPhone user. The app also contains a detailed fact page with food-pairing suggestions.”

BY CYNTHIA SIN-YI CHENG

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the May/June 2011 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Sparkling wine sales are traditionally heaviest during the holiday season. Pop, fizz, chin-chin—these are the sounds of merriment. But after January 1, Cava, Prosecco, Cramant, Franciacorta, and Champagne lose their “fizz” in the consumer consciousness. So what are producers and retailers doing to spark sales during the more dormant months? Actually, more than you might think.

As a champagne consultant and writer, I have always advocated for champagne as a wonderful year-round go-to drink. No matter the season, the time of day, or the cuisine pairing, there’s always a place for champagne. Retailers know this, of course, but the issue is convincing and educating customers about champagne’s wide variety of drinking occasions. I start by encouraging clients to keep a bottle of champagne in the fridge ready to go—not for a specific celebration, but just to pop open spontaneously to welcome the end of the workday, for example, or to enjoy as a retro aperitif. I encourage my clients to see champagne as a wine of comfort and welcome, for home entertaining and cuisine-pairing.

And, of course, since there is a range of champagne styles, it opens up a world of possibilities. There’s the sweetness level from extra brut to demi-sec so you’ll find something to go with raw oysters all the way to dessert champagne. Then you have youthful to mature—an NV (nonvintage) wine for cocktail to vintage wine to go with a meal. Lastly, there is the stylistic difference among the different blends of champagne: classic blend (a third of each of the three champagne grapes), blanc des blancs (100 percent Chardonnay), rosé, blanc des noirs (predominately black-skinned grapes), and single village wines. By changing a few habits and mindsets, retailers might just be able to get customers to purchase an extra bottle or two of bubbly on their next visit to the store.

To sell champagne, it pays to have a strategy. Mike Martin, who handles the top champagne account sales at Selection Pas Mal—a New York importer carrying 11 brands of champagne, including the darling labels Laherte Frères and José Dhondt—groups his wines by Champagne regions. He emphasizes to his retail accounts that having a wine from each of the three main regions of Champagne provides diversity: the Vallée de la Marne is Pinot Meunier-predominant, Côte des Blancs is Chardonnay land, and the Montagne de Reims is known for its Pinot Noir. Martin focuses on selling styles of champagne rather than brands.

Some champagne houses have been slow to embrace social media as a free platform for their outreach and marketing. But last October, notoriously marketing-savvy Nicolas Feuillatte, the fifth-most champagne sold in the United States, launched an iPhone app called MobileToast that entertains users while leading them, with a search engine, to the nearest retailers and restaurants carrying Feuillatte bottles. The app lets the user correctly “open” a bottle of champagne. With one fingertip, the user unwraps the foil and uncorks the bottle. The cork pops and fizzes with a satisfying sound effect, and the user can even simulate pouring the champagne into the flute of another iPhone user. The app also contains a detailed fact page with food-pairing suggestions.

Pascal Boyé—Feuillatte’s director of sales for North and South America and the face of the brand in the United States—realized 10 years ago that giving the trade and media a chance to meet the cellar master was integral to building brand understanding and loyalty, especially given the mystery and competitive branding around champagne. Boyé calls this the “direct translation.”

Veuve Clicquot has worked out a year-round “seasonal platform” that covers all the in-between holiday months. In this way, Veuve Clicquot ties champagne to lifestyle, reminding consumers that there are reasons to enjoy champagne all year round. Clicquot also has been quick and savvy with the use of social media to reach its audience . . . [with a Twitter account that gives] the brand day-to-day presence in the lives of its loyal clients and helps draw in new clients. [The company’s] Facebook page holds fans captive by focusing on “social engagement and a personal experience.”

FROM THE CHAMPAGNE HOUSES TO IMPORTERS AND RETAILERS, EVERYONE IS COMING UP WITH CREATIVE WAYS TO MOVE CHAMPAGNE FROM A SPECIAL OCCASION BEVERAGE INTO EVERYDAY LIFE.

Champagne’s static and stuffy image seems to be loosening up. From the champagne houses to the importers and retailers, everyone is coming up with creative ways to move champagne from the oh-too-rare-special-occasion wine list into everyday life. And it seems to be working.

MAKE EVERY DRINK SPARKLE

From flutes to cocktail glasses and punch bowls, Champagne and sparkling wines make every drink something special. Try the recipes below, and create your own bubbly, refreshing mixed drinks.

Sparkling Cocktail

Mix and serve in a flute.

1 teaspoon sugar or 1 sugar cube

Got Aperitif?

“Aperitif” means “to open”—and that’s exactly what an aperitif does. It’s a drink served before a meal “to open” the appetite.

The mild taste and intriguing aromas of vermouth make it an ideal aperitif on its own as well as in mixed drinks. Vermouth, wine that has been infused with botanical flavorings, comes in white (dry), red (sweet), and rose (semi-sweet). Store opened bottles of vermouth in the refrigerator—it will retain its aromas and flavors for up to a year.

Vermouth Cassis Cocktail

Serve in a chilled collins (highball) glass.

2½-3 ounces dry vermouth
1-1½ ounces crème de cassis
Club soda, chilled

Place fresh ice in the chilled serving glass. Pour the vermouth and crème de cassis over the ice, and stir gently. Fill the glass with club soda (do not stir—the bubbles will mix the beverages).

Give the Gift of Time Out

Give your customers a much-needed “time out” from holiday shopping by offering steaming hot cups of coffee flavored with the spirit of their choice. And encourage them to give the gift of a coffee time out by creating an inviting display of coffees and spirits paired with coffee glasses and mugs.

For each 5-6 ounces of freshly brewed coffee, add 1½ ounces of the liquor or liqueur of choice. Top each serving with whipped sweetened heavy cream, and garnish with grated chocolate, cinnamon, or nutmeg, if desired. Serve with a spoon coated in dark, milk, mint, or white chocolate.

In addition, offer some traditional flavored-coffee drinks—or create your own signature coffee drink!

Chocolate Coffee

Serve in a warm coffee glass with a chocolate-coated spoon.

5-6 ounces freshly brewed coffee
1 (single-serving) package hot cocoa mix without marshmallows
1-1½ ounces liqueur or liquor of choice
½-1 ounce coffee-flavored brandy
Whipped sweetened heavy cream

Pour the coffee into the warm serving glass, and stir in the hot cocoa mix. Add the liqueur or liquor and brandy, and stir gently. Garnish with a dollop of whipped cream.

Irish Coffee

Serve in a warm coffee glass.

5-6 ounces freshly brewed strong coffee
1½-2 teaspoons sugar
2½-3 ounces Irish whiskey
1-1½ ounces Irish Mist
Whipped sweetened heavy cream

Pour the coffee into the warm serving glass, and stir in the sugar. Add the whiskey and Irish Mist, and stir gently. Garnish with a dollop of whipped cream.

Café Brûlet

Makes 10-12 servings

Serve in warm coffee glasses or cups.

2 cinnamon sticks
2 cloves
¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg
¼ teaspoon whole allspice
Spiral peel of 1 small orange
1 slice lemon
12 sugar cubes
1 cup cognac
5 cups hot strong coffee

Combine all of the ingredients except the coffee in a chafing dish, and place over direct heat for 10 minutes or until hot. Heat a ladle, and fill it with a little of the hot cognac mixture; ignite the mixture in the ladle, and then pour it back into the chafing dish to ignite the remaining mixture. While the cognac mixture is flaming, add the hot coffee.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

GIVIN' WHILE YOU'RE LIVIN'

"Do your givin' while you're livin'... then you'll be knowin' where it's goin'."

— Ann Landers (1918 - 2002)

Whether for purely altruistic motives or simply to maximize tax incentives, Iowans heed the wisdom of Ann Landers and donate more than $1.5 billion annually to local, national and international nonprofit organizations. As the holidays approach, many of us find there's no better way to share in the spirit of the season than by stepping up our charitable giving. Fundraising events that feature a live or silent auction element provide participants a fun and easy way to give more to nonprofit organizations by purchasing donated items, including beer and wine.

The Charity Beer and Wine Auction Permit allows authorized nonprofit entities to auction beer and wine during events that raise money solely to be used for educational, religious or charitable purposes. Below is a breakdown of what you need to know if you are a licensee, a Charity Beer and Wine Permit holder or an individual purchasing or donating alcohol for charity.

You have questions. WE HAVE ANSWERS.

Do you have a question about Iowa laws, administrative rules or ABD policies? Submit your questions by email to Dusold@IowaABD.com and use "legally speaking" as the subject of your email. We'll answer your questions immediately, but also print answers here for others to learn and benefit from.

An Iowa retail beer or wine permittee:

- Persons holding an Iowa liquor license or Iowa wine or beer permit are prohibited from purchasing donated beer or wine at a charity auction event.
- May donate beer or wine in the original unopened container for auction. Auction items are for off-premises consumption only and cannot be resold by the purchaser.
- May allow a charity beer or wine auction to be conducted on certain licensed premises, provided that the licensee or permittee does not participate in the auction, supply beer or wine to be auctioned or receive any of the proceeds of the charity auction event.

A Charity Beer and Wine Permit holder:

- Must be an authorized nonprofit entity. (An authorized nonprofit entity includes an organization which has a principal office in the state, a nonprofit corporation organized under Iowa Code chapter 504, or a foreign corporation as defined in section Iowa Code 504.141, whose income is exempt from federal taxation under section 501(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.)
- May receive two charity wine and beer auction permits during a calendar year.
- May accept for auction beer or wine donated by an Iowa retail beer or wine permittee.
- May accept for auction beer or wine donated by an individual, provided that it has been purchased from an Iowa retail beer or wine permittee and is accompanied by the original receipt.

- Must keep a copy of the original receipt for donations from individuals for one year from the date of the event.
- Must not profit in any way from the charity auction event.
- Must not sell any alcoholic beverages at the charity event.

An individual:

- May donate beer or wine that is purchased from an Iowa licensed retailer to a charity auction event. Donated products must be accompanied by a receipt documenting the purchase.
- Must be physically present at the charity event to be eligible to bid on and purchase donated beer or wine.
- Must not consume the beer or wine purchased at a charity event on the premises where the event is conducted.
- Must not resell beer or wine purchased at a charity event.

As always, please contact Division staff with any questions or for assistance. Licensing can be reached at 1.866.IowaABD, option 1, or via email at Licensing@IowaABD.com.

It isn't Maker's Mark.®

Is too.
Is not.
Is too.
Is not.

We always felt one handcrafted recipe for Maker's Mark was plenty. But some people wanted something bigger, bolder – more of what they loved about our bourbon. So we created Maker's 46.™ As to whether or not it's Maker's Mark, we recommend years of repeated tastings.

Maker's
It is what it isn't.™

WE MAKE OUR BOURBON CAREFULLY. PLEASE ENJOY IT THAT WAY.
